shine on you
like the sun,
with healing
in its rays.*

Have you ever looked at another woman and envied her seemingly ideal life? From all outward appearances she seems to have it all - a beautiful home, handsome and successful husband, children, wealth and the admiration of her friends.

Have you ever looked at a woman who suffered terrible tragedy and thanked God you've never had to go through something so terrible? Perhaps it was the hurt and humiliation of an unfaithful husband. A daughter struggling with depression and the shame of obesity in a beauty-obsessed culture. Or a son spiraling down into severe drug addiction. Maybe it was something more horrifying - being burned in a fire where she and her husband barely survived. Having to endure excruciating skin grafts. Being confined by physical injuries to a body cast or wheelchair. Or having to patiently nurse an injured loved one back to health.

Susan Lugli is an inspirational speaker and published author. Her personal story of survival has been shared in Today's Christian Woman Magazine, many Chicken Soup books, and in her own book "Just Get Over It". She was profiled in the Woman of Faith New Testament. She is an active member of the Phoenix Society for Burn Survivors. Susan and Rusty Lugli live on the central coast of California with all their family nearby.

Often, when we are privileged to look beneath the surface of another's life, we are surprised that our impressions were all wrong. In the rare case when a woman dares to trust God with her inner life - whether the surface appears ideal or intolerable - those privileged to hear her story are touched by the hand of God who sustained her. You are invited to join us for such a privilege when we have Susan Lugli as our special guest speaker. She has been through everything mentioned on the other side of this card. But she didn't go through the fires alone! She has much to teach us. Much that will inspire us. Her circumstances may be like, or different from yours, but the truths God has taught her through them will minister to every heart. Don't miss this rare opportunity.
